

FINALLY AGREE ON BONUS BILL

WON'T ABANDON FORT LINCOLN, SAYS OFFICIAL

Acting Secretary of War Tells Senator That Plans Call for Re-garrisoning

DEPENDENT ON CONGRESS

No Definite Instructions Yet
Given Because of Possible
Reduction in Army

Present plans of the United States War Department call for the maintenance of Fort Lincoln as a military post and for the re-garrisoning of the post when it is felt warranted, according to information received here.

Resolutions of the Burlington county board of commissioners were forwarded to Senator P. J. McCumber, the resolutions asking the war department to re-garrison the post. This action followed considerable discussion in the press of the state on proposals advanced at various times asking that the state attempt to obtain the post from the government for an orphan's home or similar use. Because of the deeds given at the time Fort Lincoln was established this is said not to be feasible.

Senator McCumber, replying to Mr. Patterson as chairman of the board of county commissioners, informed him of the plans of the War Department to re-garrison the post and enclosed a letter he had received from J. M. Wainwright, acting secretary of war, with whom Senator McCumber took the matter up.

Letter of Wainwright
The letter of Mr. Wainwright follows:
Honorable P. J. McCumber,
United States Senate.
My Dear Senator:

I desire to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of February 18, 1922, inclosing a copy of Resolutions adopted by the County Commissioners of Burlington county, North Dakota, requesting the War Department to re-garrison the military post of Fort Lincoln, North Dakota.

In reply I wish to inform you that the present plans of the War Department contemplate the re-garrisoning of this post, although no definite instructions have yet been given in the matter pending action by congress relative to the possible further reduction of the army.

Sincerely yours,
J. M. Wainwright,
Acting Secretary of War.

From the standpoint of health conditions, general location, and facilities Fort Lincoln is held to be a much better post for the garrisoning of a regiment of the regular army than many others.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS BERRY IN CROP CASE

Action in Case of John Kautzman Means Trial of Drouth Insurance Cases

IN KAUTZMAN CASE

The supreme court has sustained Judge H. L. Berry of district court in a ruling which affected several cases arising from loss of crops by drouth was of the Missouri river, and as a result the cases will be tried in district court.

Judge Berry's action in overruling the demurrer of the National Union Fire Insurance company, of Pittsburgh, Pa., to the complaint of John Kautzman, is affirmed in a decision in which four judges participated. Chief Justice Grace being disqualified in the case.

"Where a complaint is so framed as to state a cause of action or causes of action upon more than one legal theory, a demurrer to the complaint on the ground that it does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action should be overruled," says the chief syllabus in the case.

Kautzman in his action in district court said he insured his crops against loss from hail or any cause, and the flood, winter kill or failure of his part to properly prepare the land to properly care for the crops, and there was a loss sustained for $12,000. The case was adjusted for $12,000. He presented the company was not financially responsible and induced him to pay off to a cent $625 and gave him a check for the same.

The company was in good financial condition and that he believed the paper signed was not as represented and that it actually was a surrender of rights and a payment and compromise of the policy.

Company's Position
The insurance company demurred to the complaint on the ground that it did not state sufficient facts to constitute a cause of action and asked that the complaint be dismissed. Judge Berry overruled the demurrer and the appeal was taken to the supreme court.

All other cases, it is stated involved suits by the same allegations by the plaintiff, generally being that they secured their crop losses for less than was due them through misrepresentation.

"HOME BREW" DAY IN FEDERAL COURT, AS ARRAIGNMENT OF 73 CHARGED WITH OFFENSE BEGINS BEFORE JUDGE MILLER

Light Fines for First Offense Where Extenuating Circumstances

Jail Sentence—Many Farmers Held
On This Charge

It was "home brew" day at Judge Andrew Miller's first session of United States district court in Bismarck. Application of the Volstead act was demonstrated vividly and the ramifications of the prohibition agents stood out in bold relief.

The federal court had a busy session before it as the pleadings opened shortly after the call of the civil calendar. Most of the offenders arraigned had made everything from moonshine whiskey to choke cherry wine for their own consumption.

Judge Miller in most cases where no sale was charged fixed a minimum fine of $10. In one instance where a farmer who had to borrow money to reach Bismarck to plead his case faced the court, a stay of ninety days was given in which to pay the fine. S. L. Nuchols, assistant United States attorney made this suggestion.

CONVICTION OF UGLAND UPHOLD

Supreme Court Decides Larceny
Was Proper Charge

Conviction in the state courts of David Uglund, of Knox, who was sentenced to a year and a day in federal prison by Judge Andrew Miller last week, is upheld in a decision handed down by the supreme court. Uglund was convicted of grand larceny.

The opinion in the case was written by District Judge Thomas H. Pugh, sitting as a member of the supreme court in the case. The crime of larceny for which Uglund was convicted involved the ownership of flax, which it was charged he had taken and sold, receiving the money from the sale of 112 bushels of the grain. The question of ownership of the flax and also the question of whether Uglund was guilty of embezzlement or grand larceny, if guilty of either, was raised.

Uglund, according to the decision, had assigned all his lands, 13,000 acres, to W. H. Shure as trustee, for the benefit of creditors, in 1918. He was charged with taking 112 bushels of flax which had been on a piece of land which had been mortgaged and assigned.

CONDITION THAT JEWISH RELIEF WORKERS FACE

"You talk of making sacrifices here. Why we don't know what sacrifice really means. Come with me to the hospital, or so called hospital, in the city of Dubno, a dirty, miserable, ugly place with three, four and five patients delirious from typhus fever lying on a bed, and observe these weak, sickly looking women with their heads shaven, barefooted, walking upon the cold, icy floor from bed to bed, musing to these patients; and listen to the story of the doctor in charge as he tells me that having no fuel in the hospital he was compelled to let the patients bring their filthy bed covering from their own homes so as to have some warmth, and that thereby he infected the hospital, and having no means of disinfecting it, the physicians and nurses in charge were struck down by the disease. That having no nurses left, these women that had recovered partially from the disease, still being in a convalescent stage had volunteered to take the place of the nurses. And then, only as you see them as I have seen them, could you know what sacrifice means."

COMPROMISE TO BE INTRODUCED IN HOUSE SOON

Democrats of House Committee
To Be Called in For Vote on Bill Saturday

FOUR OPTIONS PROVIDED

Adjusted Pay Certificate, Vocational Training, Home and Farm Aid—Land Settlement

Washington, March 7.—Final agreement on a compromise soldier bonus bill was reached today by the house ways and means Republicans who authorized Chairman Fordney to present the measure to the house before adjournment today. Representative Fordney announced that the Democrats on the committee would be called in Saturday to pass on the bill. He said it was his plan to present the formal report to the house immediately after the measure had been approved by the entire committee. The Democrats are not expected to submit a minority report.

As finally drawn the measure carries four options, with an added provision of immediate cash payment to those former service men entitled to not more than $50. It was stated that no changes of importance had been made in the new bank loan provision of the adjusted certificate titles or in the other three options which are:

Vocational training, home and farm aid, and land settlement.

The efforts to have included in the measure a provision providing for payment of compensation to immediate relatives of men who have died since their discharge was unsuccessful. Chairman Fordney predicted that the measure would be passed by the house. He was undecided whether it would be brought up under a suspending of the rules or whether he would seek a special order of consideration.

BANK LOAN

Washington, March 7.—Following are provisions of the bank loan section of the compromise soldiers bonus bill:

A—That loans to veterans upon adjusted service certificates before Sept. 30, 1925, be made only in accordance with the following:

C—If the veteran does not pay the note within six months after maturity or at any event before Sept. 30, 1925, the bank shall present the certificate and note to the secretary of the treasury who shall pay the bank the amount due it and the veteran the amount due him.

MANY TAKING UNIVERSITY MAIL COURSE

The Extension Division of U. of N. D. is Proving Popular and Helpful

Grand Forks, N. D., March 6.—An increase of 41 per cent has been made in the number of persons taking correspondence work through the extension division of the University of North Dakota, according to information given out by Seymour Anderson, secretary of the correspondence study department. The number on January 1, 1921, read 183 as compared with 273 on January 1, 1922.

Of this number 69 are taking high school work.

Fifteen new courses have been added to the list of available subjects during the last year. These are: Business finance, industrial management, elements of electricity, English as a reporting, elementary Latin, Caesar's Gallic war, introduction to Latin poetry, Latin prose, composition, Horace's life, Roman private life, historical geology, elements of statistics, and general science (high school).

Credit Maximum is 60 Hours.

No degrees are given for work done entirely by correspondence. A minimum of one full year in residence is a fixed requirement for any degree. The number of correspondence credits toward a degree varies with the different schools and colleges, the maximum being 60 hours. This amount is accepted in the college of liberal arts and the school of education.

No student is allowed to carry more than 12 hours of correspondence work and eight hours is the amount recommended by the extension division. No credit for work is granted until a student has passed a satisfactory written examination at the end of the course. Examination must be taken at some place approved by the division.

High School Course Demanded

Concerning high school study by correspondence the following is taken from the semi-monthly news letter of the university:

"Ever since the beginning of the correspondence work in the extension division there has been a call for work of high school grade. The need for this work has steadily increased and the extension division had endeavored to meet the situation in so far as possible. Calls have come in from students who wished to complete their high school work but who for various reasons could not do so in residence. Other calls came from high school graduates who were teaching and who lacked certain subjects required by law as a qualification for a teacher's certificate. To supply these demands the extension division has developed courses which make it possible to help out any of these students.

"Any student satisfactorily completing the necessary work is given a completion certificate which admits to the university without further examination.

"Students are urged to make every reasonable attempt to obtain a high school diploma by attending and graduating from some high school. Whenever requests for correspondence study come to the division from high school students, their case is taken up with the superintendent or principal of the school before the request is granted.

"There is in many communities a lack of school facilities so that opportunity for high school graduation is denied the student. In many communities maintaining excellent high schools, are found certain people who cannot attend and many others of maturer years who feel that they are too old to go to school with boys and girls. To these people the extension division gives aid."

In its fall, the tower damaged the Soo roundhouse and other small buildings belonging to the railroad company. EMPLOYMENT OF 700,000 VETS IS LOOKED FOR

American Legion Launches Great Joint National Effort with This End in View

HARDING IS APPEALED TO

Indianapolis, Ind., March 6.—Employment of 700,000 veterans of the world war who are now idle and in need will be undertaken in a great joint national effort already initiated by the American Legion in cooperation with an impressive list of national business, civic, fraternal and welfare organizations, according to announcement at the national headquarters of the Legion. Preliminary preparations for the campaign have been started under the direction of local units of the Legion and cooperating bodies. This includes a survey of conditions and suggestions for remedy in every locality. This work will be completed before March 20, which shall be known as American Legion Employment Day.

Hanford MacNider, national commander of the Legion has appealed to the President, state commanders have requested their governors, and local leaders have asked mayors of cities and towns to set aside that day to launch by concerted effort in every community in the nation this joint drive to give work to and relieve need among the unemployed who served their country in war. On March 20 it is planned to hold meetings under the auspices of the joint local committees in every city and town in the United States, at which the business men and employers and representatives of every element in the community life will be confronted by a survey of the situation in their town with suggestions for relief which fit the local conditions.

Will Relieve 500,000 Men

"Properly supported this concerted, localized national effort will result in the relief of 500,000 men in thirty days," declared Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the Legion, who supervised the organization of the effort. "We are dealing with methods which have been proven. The Legion has long been interested in the unemployed situation. Through our own bureau we have placed several hundred thousand men in jobs within the last six months. A recent concerted effort in St. Paul resulted in putting every deserving veteran to work in that city. The Louisiana department of the Legion reports not a resident veteran unemployed in the state."

Mr. Bolles announced that national heads of the following organizations had been urged to cooperate with the Legion American Legion Auxiliary, United States Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs, Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Community Service, Knights of Columbus, Elks and Jewish Welfare Board. Pastors of all churches will be asked to mention the movement in their sermons on Sunday, March 19th.

Legion officials assert the unemployment situation among veterans has never been worse since the end of the war.

Requests No Smoking In The Dormitory

Chicago, Ill., March 6.—"Smoking among women was introduced by the so-called upper set and then imitated by others," said Dean Marion Talbot in introducing recently to residents of Green Hall, a girls' dormitory at the University of Chicago, a request from President Harry Pratt Judson that there be no smoking in the dormitory. "Now," continued Miss Talbot, "those who introduced the practice are abandoning it because it has become common. Therefore I think it is time for the rest of us to do likewise. I would suggest that any persons so addicted to tobacco that they cannot do without it seek quarters elsewhere."

"Though there has been no action by the student government board barring women smokers," a student residing in Green Hall said today, "if there has been any smoking in the hall since President Judson's message was read with Dean Talbot's comment, I have seen none of it. At any rate, I am satisfied there is none on my floor."

TOWNLEY HERE TO SPEAK ON "POWER" PLAN

Nonpartisan League Chief Tells Jamestown People Yesterday Of His Plan

NOT SEEKING OFFICE

Reiterates His Statement That Politicians May be Allowed Offices

A. C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan League, addresses the league members here this afternoon.

Mr. Townley's remarks were expected to be a reiteration of a speech made in Jamestown yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Townley, it is said, will visit several other places in the state between now and March 23.

The Courier-News reported the Townley speech of yesterday afternoon as follows:

Jamestown, N. D., March 6.—All that President A. C. Townley of the national Nonpartisan League wants the North Dakota Leaguers to do is to stay out of the race for three major offices, United States senator, governor and attorney general, he told a meeting here today.

This meeting had been called for the purpose of discussing the balance of power plan. About 40 farmers and workers attended.

"Instead of forcing all the political elements into fighting us which we will if we put a full ticket into the field, we should put the politicians in a position where they will come to us and seek our favor," said Mr. Townley in the course of his talk.

"Then when they come to ask our support they will not heap abuse on us but will talk well of us. The various candidates will vie with each other in lauding us in order to get our vote. In this way we will get our enemies to talk good of us and our program."

Mr. Townley bases his plan on the proposition that for the league in North Dakota to put up a full ticket at this time will mean the loss of all, even what the League has at this time.

Leaguers Are Not Seeking Office

"We have lost nothing yet," said he. "Some say we lost ground in the recall election, but that is not so. We lost three men but our program was endorsed by good majorities. All our laws are on the statute books and in operation now. And the program is what we started out to put across."

"As far as the rank and file of the Nonpartisan League is concerned, we do not care for offices. We want the program put into operation and we do not care who does it as long as it is done. I think that we can fix it so that we can make the politicians carry out our wishes."

"In that way we would reach our goal, the industrial program, with a great deal less responsibility and at a greatly reduced expense. Times are hard; so hard that many of our members are well nigh unable to get the necessities of life. Where are we going to get the money for another campaign under these circumstances?"

In opening his speech Mr. Townley declared that as far as he was concerned it was nothing new he was proposing. He declared that he had had this matter in mind for the past three years and that he had taken the plan up with the national committee at the last annual meeting but that the members of the committee would not listen to it.

Wants Members to Decide

"So I have made up my mind to come direct to you with my proposition to explain it fully to you and let you judge for yourselves," said Mr. Townley. "I will state right here that it will make no difference to me whether or not you accept my suggestion. Since this proposal seems to have caused considerable misunderstanding in certain quarters, I deem it my duty to come before you and explain to you what I mean."

In putting his proposition before the meeting, Mr. Townley used rough diagrams to illustrate his idea. He first showed all the elements lined up against the Nonpartisan League, the press, the schools, the machinery of the churches, not the church itself, he explained, but the machinery that controls the church, the financial interest, the transportation systems, banks, stores, wholesalers, all the interests that control the finance and industry of the country are lined up to fight the Nonpartisan League. He said they are fighting the League because it stands for a new economic program that threatens the unjust profits these interests are exacting from the people.

Politicians Want Jobs

Then Mr. Townley showed that all the politicians are against the Nonpartisan League, not because of the program but because they are afraid the Leaguers are aiming to take their jobs from them. With his diagrams he then showed what an overwhelming power the League had aligned against them and the slender resources the Leaguers possessed with which to carry on the fight against the opposition.

"Now, if we could fix it so that this formidable opposition could be made to fight among themselves and let us alone for a while, don't you think that would tend to benefit us?" went on the speaker. "The politicians are not fighting us because they are afraid of our program; they are fighting to save their jobs. The big interests I have shown to be lined up against us are employing the politicians. The politicians have no love for the big interest except as they depend on them for their living. If we could make it worth while for the politicians to dicker with us; if the politicians would have to come to us for support to hold their jobs, would not that make it much easier for us? Instead of fighting us as they are doing now, calling us names and slinging mud, they would come talking well of us. They will do that gladly for our vote. A politician will do anything for votes."

Mr. Townley declared that if we broke down the politicians' opposition to the League by staying away from offices, that battle would be won. He maintained that by going after all the offices we invited attack from all the combined opposition interests. If the offices were left to the politicians they would cease attacking the League and with the strength of the League in North Dakota would do everything to get the Leaguers' vote.

League Tried to Do too Much

He maintained that the League had made a mistake from the start in attempting to do too much at once. "We picked green men to fill the state offices and then required more work of them than was ever demanded of a set of officers in the history of the country," said Mr. Townley.

"And I will say for our officials, although they were green they performed their work well; so well in fact that I do not think their record has ever been excelled. They made mistakes. That is true. It is only human to expect that they would. With the almost superhuman tasks that we imposed upon them, the only wonder is that the mistakes were not more numerous and of greater consequence. I am not here to criticize any of our men. They started in without any training for political office and under the circumstances made a record that no party need be ashamed of. I don't for one minute think that Nestos can come up to Governor Frazier when it comes to do the people's business."

"But no set of men can stay in office any length of time without having a lot chalked up against them. They had things on our men; there is no use denying that. There was plenty to make political capital of for unscrupulous politicians and corrupt business. And if we go into the campaign again to elect a full ticket of our men they are going to keep up their muckraking and we shall have to waste all our time denying their charges and proving that we are not guilty. They will be enlarging on their charges a thousand times because they are determined to kill us off in that way."

No Money for Campaign

"And they will do it, too, if we go in for a full ticket at this time. We have not got the money to carry on such a campaign as the coming ones will be under those circumstances. I therefore suggest, and I shall put this before the state convention, that we refrain from endorsing candidates for United States senator, governor and attorney general, but that we enter all our energies on control of both houses of the legislature. We can have the commissioner of agriculture and labor. They will be tickled to give us that. Then we have representation on the industrial commission so we can keep track of what they are doing. But the I. V. A. will be responsible for what is done. They will have to stand the grief."

Mr. Townley insisted that Governor Nestos be given a chance to show what he can do but said that he has not had enough time yet in which to demonstrate his sincerity in carrying out the farmers' program. He believes the I. V. A. should be given two more years.

Mr. Townley denied that he had ever said that he would pay the League debts if his plan was adopted by the state convention but declared that enough can be saved by keeping out of the campaign to pay most of the obligations and accommodation notes. He said the League had enough postdated checks to pay all and that these would eventually be paid.

He said that he would be before the people explaining his plan until the state convention. No reference was made to the state executive committee in Mr. Townley's address yesterday.

of Golden Valley, pleaded not guilty and will stand trial.

There are 73 cases of alleged violations of the Volstead act before the court and a number of other criminal cases to be disposed of at this term of court. The courtroom was crowded when court was opened this morning.

The civil calendar was called first. The civil calendar was called. It appeared that but four civil cases would be called for trial. They are: J. J. Verburgh vs. Beulah Coal Mining Co.; General Insulating Company vs. Farmers Creamery and Produce Co.; The McCaull Dinsmore Co. vs. S. T. O'Beill et al.; Bankers Farm Mortgage Co. vs. The Farmers Equity Union of Rhome et al. They probably will be heard this week and trial of criminal cases taken up next week.

Important Case

Probably the most important of the cases in the case known as the "box-car case." In this case, Leslie Simpson, Dickinson attorney, and Ted Hartung, prominent Nonpartisan leaguer and at one time sheriff of Stark county, and charged with conspiracy and obstruction of justice.

This action is the outgrowth of the trial of A. B. Boxrud, Northern Pacific freight conductor; Fred and Ray Youngblood and L. J. Sewell, who were charged by the federal government with robbing a freight car between Dickinson and Beach, N. D., from which it is said, spoils consisting of enough merchandise to furnish a store, and valued at about $2,500, was stolen. This is alleged to have taken place in July, 1918.

In the complaint against Messrs. Simpson and Hartung, it is charged that they conspired in inducing Fred Youngblood and Sewell into the military service, after the arrest of the offenders for the purpose of evading justice. Simpson appeared as defense counsel for the men and Hartung was on the draft board of Stark county.

The men went to the army, but were returned on complaint of Mr. Hildreth. They stood trial and were convicted. Fred Youngblood, L. J. Sewell and Ray Youngblood, were given sentences of three years each in the penitentiary. The two first named men, died in prison during the influenza epidemic in 1913. Boxrud was tried, but was acquitted. Hartung and Simpson were indicted by the federal grand jury, and were released from custody under bonds.

WINTER WHEAT BETTERED SAYS REPORT OF U. S.

Increased Moisture Held Aid to Condition of Winter Wheat in Kansas

Washington, March 7.—Increased moisture has improved the condition of the winter wheat in Kansas while a lack of it has resulted in a poor condition of the crop in parts of Nebraska, Colorado and New Mexico, the department of agriculture reported today in its crop review for the last half of February.

In Illinois, Indiana and Ohio some counties were reported from alternating freezing and thawing; conditions were said to be favorable in central Iowa, Georgia, Carolina and Virginia, while lack of snow cover in southern Iowa and Wisconsin was reported to be retarding growth.

Condition of winter rye was said to be generally favorable in the central states.

Prospects for this season's fruit crop were said to be generally favorable.

Preliminary Hearing To Be Held at Indefinite Time

The preliminary hearing of A. C. Townley, set for Thursday in federal court at Fargo, has been continued for an indefinite time. It was said today by Attorney General Johnson. Judge W. S. Lauder, of Washpeton, who said that he was Townley's only counsel in the case, said it was impossible for him to be present on Thursday when the preliminary hearing was scheduled to be held before Justice of the Peace Miller. Because of press of business Attorney General Johnson is unable to fix a definite date for the hearing.

Townley was in Bismarck to address a Nonpartisan gathering this afternoon behind closed doors.

Transatlantic Wireless Station For Soviet Russia

Moscow, March 7.—Soviet Russia will soon have a wireless station capable of transatlantic service, says H. Nikolajeff, Assistant Commissar for Posts and Telegraphs.

The station is in progress of erection at Bogorodsk, near Moscow and is expected to be one of the most powerful in the world. Its towers will be more than 900 feet high, which is 300 feet higher than the famous German wireless station at Nauhen. The new Russian station will have a strength of 500 kilowatts.

Nikolajeff adds that Soviet Russia has made great progress in wireless communication in the last four years and cites as evidence of it the fact that the station at Moscow is able to hold telephone conversations with another at Chita, Siberia, 2,000 miles distant. Russia now has 38 sending stations and 230 receiving stations.

New wireless stations will be erected within the next few months at Tashkent, Kharkov and Novo-Nikolajevsk as well as at the radial points of the Siberian water basin and along the Arctic sea coast where nine stations were installed in 1921.

"THREE LIVE GHOSTS" AT THE ELTINGE

A wave of excitement recently agitated the busiest thoroughfare of London when a burly policeman held up the traffic to allow the passage of an aristocratic-looking gentleman, immaculately tailored wearing the latest thing in expensive baby-carriages, cross the road.

Absorbed and quite unperturbed by the amazement caused by his unheeded arrival, the gentleman steered his charge to the opposite side walk, and by the time the crowd had recovered from its astonishment, had apparently vanished into thin air.

It was a scene from "Three Live Ghosts" featuring Anna Q. Nilsson, showing at the Eltinge for two days, Tuesday and Wednesday "Old Mouse Trail," a Field and Stream picture and kinograms are also being shown.

but also of Oriental legend, according to Virginia Tracy, author of the story on which "Queen of Sheba," the William Fox picture spectacle now at the Rialto Theater, is based.

Throughout the east a hundred legends and traditions, mostly unwritten, keep alive the memory of the great queen who came from the south and won Solomon's heart. Her fame in Asia is beyond that of Cleopatra and that of Helen of Troy, in spite of the fact that Cleopatra had Shakespeare and Helen had Homer to sing their praises, while Sheba's love never until now has been immortalized in the written word.

Yet for proof of her strong influence on King Solomon, and, through him, probably on the whole course of history, one must turn to the Songs of Solomon, which, according to commentators, contain many passages which can refer only to the Queen of Sheba.

It is true that a strong school of thought holds that in these poems, which form the collection known as the Songs of Solomon, the king used his love for Sheba as a religious symbol; but they contain every indication that they were written by a man who had experienced the deepest of human emotions, that of love between the sexes.

It is also undoubtedly true that the Songs of Solomon were written soon after the visit of the Queen of Sheba to Solomon's kingdom. Dazzled by her beauty and the magnificence of her retinue, Solomon descended from his throne to greet the Queen, who had journeyed over the desert to gaze upon his glory and hear his wisdom. And not for the first time in history, nor the last, wisdom and power bowed low and humbled itself before beauty.

U. S. GRAIN GROWERS WILL OPEN 5 OFFICES

Steps Are Taken To Provide Sales Facilities on the Minneapolis Market

OFFICE FOR MINNEAPOLIS

St. Paul, Minn., March 7.—Immediate steps to provide sales facilities on the Minneapolis market for grain raised by the 7,500 Northwest members of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., will be taken by the U. S. Grain Growers Sales company, the incorporation of which as a subsidiary of the parent farmers organization was announced at Chicago.

The Minneapolis office will be one of five to be opened in the near future, according to representatives of the Grain Growers here. Others will be at Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha and Indianapolis.

The Grain Growers' Sales subsidiary is assured of an annual volume of business in excess of 110,000,000 bushels, officers say, as that amount already has been contracted by the 50,000 members in mid-west and northwest states. The Minneapolis office will handle at least 18,000,000 bushels from members in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

The aggregate bushings is increasing at the rate of about 4,000,000 a week, as organization work progresses in the grain growing states. This assures the sales company of starting business with a volume of grain greater than that handled by any selling company in the world, it is claimed.

"The Minneapolis office of the U. S. Grain Growers Sales company will be able to engage in a general grain business and perform all the functions of grain firms in the terminal markets at the present time," said a state agent issued by C. H. Gustafson and Frank M. Myers, president and secretary, respectively, of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc. "The incorporation of the selling company sets up a separate and distinct legal entity and provides for separate financial responsibility."

Plans for the selling agency are distinctive in that the directors of the U. S. Grain Growers will appoint advisory boards from the directors of farmers elevators and local grower associations in territory tributary to the several branch offices. These sectional boards will act in an advisory capacity to the general management and directorate of the organization with respect to local and sectional problems.

The U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., is a non-stock, non-profit co-operative grain marketing organization that has been organizing for the past year, having been founded on recommendations made by the Committee of Seventeen, which spent eight months in devising a plan upon which all farmer-owned marketing associations could unite.

Coincidental with the announcement of its sales subsidiary came the statement that the membership last week passed the 50,000 mark. Illinois is first in point of membership with 12,300, Nebraska second with 9,200 and Indiana third with 5,900. Iowa has more than 5,000, Missouri 4,800, and Oklahoma 2,700. States having approximately 1,000 members or less are Kansas, Colorado, South Dakota, Wyoming and Texas.

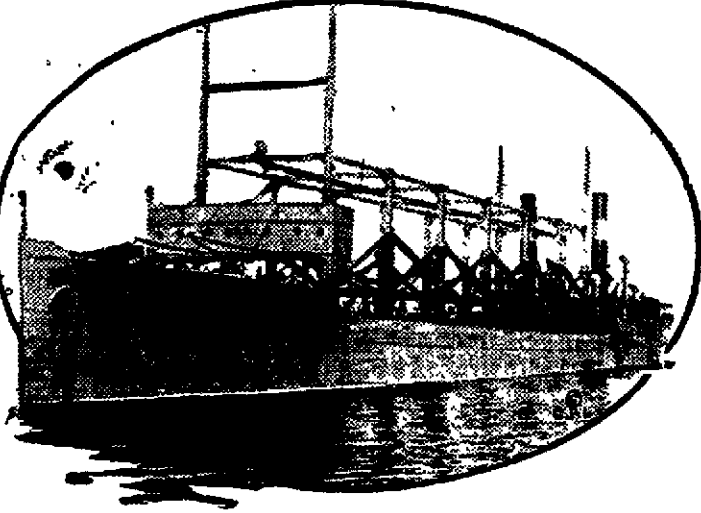

2,000 in Minnesota

In Minnesota, where organization work has been under way during the winter months, the membership is nearing 2,000, most of which is concentrated in Lyon, Kittson, Redwood, Watonwan and Murray counties.

Nationally, 1075 elevators are affiliated with the movement, 43 of these being in Minnesota. In point of elevator service, Illinois is first 324, and Nebraska 237. In the Northwest, there are 150 elevators that will be linked with the Minneapolis office.

The Grain Growers will hold its first annual convention at Chicago on March 21 and at that meeting a new board of directors will be elected and details of the selling agency worked out.

Seelye says the Cyclops was sunk by an Austrian armored yacht which itself was destroyed in the vortex created by the sinking of the huge collier. Seelye has laid his information before the navy department. The Cyclops is shown above, Seelye below.

Half of Wealth of Kansas Escapes H. S. Taxation

Chicago, Ill., March 7.—"More than half the wealth of Kansas virtually escapes taxation for the support of high schools," said Mr. A. K. Loomis, superintendent of schools, Hlawatha, Kansas, at the meeting of the department of rural education of the National Education Association. The situation is probably typical of conditions in every state where no provision for state equalization has been made and where no adequate system of county aid has been devised.

Mr. Loomis explained that county aid was not so distributed as to equalize opportunity in various parts of the

WELLS COUNTY FARMERS SEND HORSES EAST

Horses Have Averaged $165 with Transportation Costs Averaging $45 Each

Fessenden, N. D., March 7.—Farmers of Wells County who are shipping horses to eastern markets and selling them co-operatively have received an average of $165 apiece for their surplus horses with transportation costs averaging $45 apiece. These prices were secured for two carloads, according to County Agent Edw. W. Vancura. On the first car the top team brought $420 and the top horse $212.50, while on the second the top team brought $430 and the top horse $240.

"The horses that are fitted and fattened are bringing big money," reports Mr. Vancura, "while the horses of good type but not fattened do not sell so well. It is a matter of giving the other fellow what he wants. The proposition is appealing to our farmers, because they have an outlet for horses on which they had heretofore no market."

"Our farmers figure that paying ten per cent interest on $100 notes, paying taxes, and feeding surplus horses, as well as allowing those surplus horses to take up barn room, is not very profitable. The net returns from these horses is not large, but all reasonable farmers are very well satisfied."

Why fade at 30?

Youthful maturity may exert a charm which youth alone can't rival. And certainly no woman should allow her youthful freshness to fade just when the joy of living should be at its height.

Why your face needs washing

Keep your school-girl complexion and you can forget the passing years. The woman with a fresh, radiant skin will always seem young.

How to keep it—this is simple, as Cleopatra could tell you. The secret lies in daily intelligent care which will make beauty life-long.

How Cleopatra kept young

Girlhood days had long passed when the beautiful Egyptian reached the height of her fame and loveliness. Her charm grew greater with the years.

She knew how to care for and keep the smooth, flawless complexion which makes the possessor seem ever young.

Her method—thorough cleansing with the soothing oils discovered in ancient Egypt. Whatever cosmetics this queen of beauty used, the foundation was a skin free from all injurious accumulations.

Why your face needs washing

Because the accumulation of dirt, oil and perspiration must be removed or they will ruin your skin. To let them collect in the pores is to invite complexion troubles.

Inevitably such deposits soon cause enlarged pores and coarse texture results. The dirt forms blackheads and carries infections which cause blotches.

The more powder you use to conceal this condition the worse it grows, for this only increases the clogging. Lotions and cold creams won't help—you must remove the cause.

Gentle cleansing with Palmolive will soon improve the condition, and don't be afraid to be thorough.

Massage the cosmetic lather into the skin so that it may remove every trace of injurious soil.

If your skin is dry, apply cold cream after cleansing. Oily skins won't require such applications.

Throat, neck, shoulders

Need the same beautifying cleansing, for complexion beauty doesn't stop with the face.

Bathe with Palmolive and keep your skin smooth and white. It is a luxury all can afford.

For with all its fineness, its mild, soothing qualities, its gentle cosmetic action, Palmolive isn't an expensive soap. Popularity keeps the price low.

10 cents a cake

This modest sum is possible through gigantic production which keeps the Palmolive factories working day and night and the importation of the bland mild oils in reducing volume.

Thus this finest facial soap, which if made in small quantities would cost at least 25 cents, is offered at the price of ordinary soap.

SEIZE PRIEST AND BEAT HIM

Amarillo, Tex., March 7.—J. G. Keller, Catholic priest at Slatten, who was seized by masked men at that town Saturday night, beaten, tarred and feathered authorized the statement here today that the incident was the climax of some pro-German accusations against him during the World War. He said he was denied final citizenship papers in federal court at Amarillo in June, 1921, on the ground that he had registered as a German citizen after taking out his first naturalization papers.

BE SURE
of perfect results on bake-day. Don't spend your time in preparing bakings that contain expensive ingredients and be disappointed when you take them out of the oven. Use CALUMET BAKING POWDER not because it's the biggest selling brand in the world, but because it is absolutely the most dependable and economical of all leaveners. When you employ Calumet Baking Powder you know that your bakings will raise properly because it contains more than the ordinary leavening strength. Don't waste energy and money on uncertain baking powder — use Calumet, the "pure and sure" brand. A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

BAPTISTS ARE GETTING READY FOR FUND DRIVE

Plan Is To Raise $15,000,000 In U. S. Between Now and April 30

Fargo, N. D., March 7.—Representatives of the Baptist churches of this district will gather at the First Baptist church of Fargo on March 14, for the purpose of organizing for their portion of the work in the $15,000,000 campaign northern Baptists throughout the United States will take part in between now and April 30, according to Rev. R. W. Hobbs of the First Baptist church.

Rev. F. E. Stockton of Grand Forks, promotion director of North Dakota, is organizing the state for the campaign. All of the districts in the state will be organized separately and will have programs featuring well known speakers and church workers of the country boosting the campaign.

Mr. Hobbs pointed out that the present campaign is a continuation of the $100,000,000 campaign launched some two years ago for the promotion of home and foreign missionary service. During the first campaign over $50,000,000 was raised. The $15,000,000 to be raised is the amount determined to carry on the work of the fiscal year in home and foreign fields.

At the time of the original campaign the Fargo district was requested to raise $32,000. Approximately $36,000 was raised and the district has agreed to accept an additional allotment of $6,500 for the present campaign. Rev. Hobbs said that the majority of the effort in this campaign will be made towards getting past pledges paid up.

North Dakota women will have an important place in the drive and will be organized separately. Mrs. C. E. Johnston of Langdon will have charge of the women in this state.

The meeting will be held in the evening and a large attendance is expected.

CHURCH DISTRICT MEETINGS HERE

There will be a district meeting of Baptist churches held at the Baptist church on Thursday, March 9. This meeting was announced last week, by Mr. or, for Friday.

Dr. Peterson of Minneapolis will speak in the evening and other state workers, including Secretary Stockton and Mrs. Nelson of Grand Forks, will be present and take part in the discussion. The meeting will begin at 8:30 o'clock and there will be three sessions.

Two representatives, one woman and one man from each church of the district have been asked to attend. The purpose of this meeting is to confer upon ways and means of increasing fully the financial crisis now confronting the denomination.

It is expected that the members and friends of the church will attend these sessions, as much as possible.

SCOUT NOTES

Methodist Troop No. 2.

Our list of Merit Badges was raised to 66 by First Aid taken by Arthur Nathan, and First Aid Machinery by Marion Polson. Pioneering by Marston, Gordon and Bertrum Dunn and Electricity by William Cawley.

Our cabin committee was appointed by Mr. Wallace. The committee composed of Arthur Nathan, Henry Sowles, Wendell Sanders and Milford Dresback with Mr. Wallace. It is to have full control over all affairs of the cabin.

Every scout is doing his bit in taking tests. The bird list was raised to 12 by a Rough Leg Hawk seen by Marion Polson and identified by its color and shape.

A new contest between the patrols has been started. Each patrol or individual scout gets so many points but they all go to the credit of the patrol, as there are so many points for a uniform worn and every time they are fined by the Sargent at arms one point is deducted from the total amount of points of the patrol.

A number of the scouts went out in the country to find out about some logs. They went to see some men about cutting down some logs in place and then to the cabin site and pull the rest up out of reach of the waters of the creek when it breaks.

Episcopal Boy Scouts
The meeting of the Boy Scouts was held at the Parish house last evening. It was decided, at this meeting, to have the annual camp in June. The boys are making arrangements for this camp. The place has not yet been decided.

The chairman for the meeting next Monday night will be Jesse Scroggins. Arrangements have been made

Blankets still as soft and fleecy as the day you first tucked them in

YOU had had one pair ruined. Cake soap—rubbing—and your handsome blankets returned to you matted and shrunken—their softness and fleeciness gone.

They could not stand the old stern methods. Wool is more sensitive than any other fabric, and requires more careful laundering. Even the suds from a harsh soap or harsh soap flake will make its delicate scale-like fibres tangle and shrink.

With Lux you need not hesitate to wash your soft, fleecy blankets at the first sign of dinginess.

The creamy, satiny Lux flakes whisk into a thick lather. There is no rubbing to shrink and mat the tiny fibres—not one bit of solid soap to stick to the soft wool and yellow it. Your blankets come from their Lux bath as big and soft as when you put them in.

REGISTERS AS "JAMES FARRELL"

Fargo, March 7.—Oscar Schleicher, of Alexandria, Minn., who threw the authorities of both Alexandria and Fargo Monday night into hysteria by registering as "James F. Farrell," of St. Cloud at a local hotel, is being held in Fargo today while his story is being checked up.

The authorities have practically decided that he has no connection with the man of mystery who was alleged by William Gummer to have registered at the Prescott hotel, Fargo, as James Farrell on the night of the Wick murder.

Assistant Scoutmaster Inseth put the boys through another period of drill Friday. It would surprise you how well they take it up.

We are hoping that the ice will stay in the main part of the river when the break-up comes so that the cabin will remain standing. Some of the boys want to take the roof off to save it.

In the election the other night Robert Wilbert was elected Patrol Leader for the Second Patrol. Robert ought to make a good leader.

Washburn To Have New Store

Washburn, N. D., March 7.—The senior member of the firm of Sues & Nagel, J. Sues, who with his partner in the latter part of December lost their general store by fire, has announced his intention of starting another store in the Haugeberg building, which will be known as the Washburn Cash Store. Mr. Sues is now remodeling the store room and building the necessary shelving. In the back part he has reserved living quarters where he and his wife will live. Mr. Sues thinks he will be ready to make his opening date about a month from now. It is understood Mr. Nagel will move back to his farm at Tuttle.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1878)

LET PARTY MEMBERS DECIDE

There is everywhere a desire to return to the standards of the two old time dominant parties in North Dakota. Both the league and the I. V. A. organization function poorly in the present crisis that confronts the state. It is time to pluck off the buttons emblematic of the various mugwump organizations and return to the solid ground of government by party.

But it is up to the members of the parties to decide under whose leadership the struggle back to normalcy in this state is to be made. That struggle naturally must be in accordance with the party rules and regulations laid down by law. Rump conventions that seek to foist hand picked combinations upon the people in the name of even the Democrats or Republicans should have no special standing.

The Tribune hopes that the contests before the people will be so conducted that when the results are known, the Republicans of the state can rally in support of their nominees and the Democrats can do likewise.

It is to be hoped for the good of the state at least that a fearless leadership will develop and end the compromise with state socialism. The league program and the vacillating attitude of the I. V. A. organization on state ownership are equally falacious. It would be fortunate for North Dakota as Governor Preus of Minnesota well said if no more bonds could be sold for a continuation of the program of so called "industrial freedom" which, in the final analysis when pay day arrives, will prove the worst kind of bondage.

In fairness to Gov. Nestos it should be said that he is opposed to the theory of state ownership and believes cooperation the most logical solution of the problem of distribution. The Tribune believes he is honest in his attitude that the recall election placed a mandate upon him to complete the Grand Forks mill and elevator, although The Tribune differs from him as to the mandates imposed by the recall vote. Enough has been revealed by subsequent investigation to prove the futility of state ownership.

The completion of the mill and elevator at Grand Forks and the continued operation of the Drake Mill will prove an excessive drain upon an already overburdened people and unless some promise of immediate relief is given the tax payer any program that means additional burden to the people of the state will be repudiated.

The Republicans, if they are to be effective, must unite on a program that challenges uncompromisingly state socialism whether it is of the league or the I. V. A. brand—the difference is in degree only. Success of state ownership under I. V. A. management is no more possible than under league control. The principle is wrong and until enough Republicans fearlessly oppose the continuation of the experiment, North Dakota's credit will be impaired and the tax payers will continue to get deeper into debt to the state.

Everyone knows there is danger in measures that call for a rebate in taxes, but such measures are going to be mighty popular with the people until the politicians are frank enough to tell the voters that a substantial reduction in taxes is to be made. A few payroll cuts are only so many drops in the bucket. These little kitchen economies are insignificant when millions are being squandered in bond issues to plunge the state into the mire of socialistic ventures. The way to reduce taxes is to cease issuing bonds for mills, elevators and state owned banks.

The state officials can rail at Justice Robinson's drive to tie their hands against all expenditure, but as long as the issue is begged and compromised such measures will find popular favor. At this season of the year, the burden of taxation becomes most apparent to the voters. Votes are being made for Justice Robinson's program as the state continues to lend its credit to the foolish ventures of the league platform in the name of political expediency.

Unless chaos is to be intensified by the passage of ill advised tax abatement laws, the Republicans of the state must rise to the occasion and refuse to endorse any candidate who is not pledged to end completely the orgy of state socialism. The farmers are cured. They should know after a study of their tax bills what the league and I. V. A. program means when it gets under full sail.

No clique or faction in this state can tell the voters now what leadership they will accept. That issue will be fought out at the primaries next June and the Republican nominees should be men of courage, pledged to end the waste and able to restore government to its orderly function, leaving those things to private initiative that can best be performed by that agency.

The Tribune urges true Republicans to see that the next campaign, is waged on such a basis, for neither the league nor the I. V. A. platform reflects the principles of the party now in control of national destinies.

Let the slogan be: NO COMPROMISE WITH SOCIALISM. TO THAT END THAT THE RUINOUS TAXES ARE REDUCED.

HYPNOTISM

At Newport, Ky., a jury is bewildered by the oratory of lawyers that it returns a criminal verdict in a civil case. Judge Caldwell gasps and orders the "12 good men and true" back to the jury-room to rectify their mistake.

When the average trial is over, few participants have a crystal-clear idea of what it was all about.

The goal of most lawyers is to hypnotize the jury by the mesmeric music of oratory and by the dramatic staging of trials.

This is the weakest point of our system of so-called justice—swaying the jurors by emotional instead of intellectual appeal.

POISON IN BOOZE

You hear this repeatedly: "I guess good liquor is about extinct in the interior of the country and the good stuff, smuggled in, doesn't get far inland from the coast cities."

In Detroit, where much hooch flows in from Canada, 19 died of poison booze during February.

In Boston harbor the coastguard cutter Tampa captures a British rum-running schooner. Every bottle in the cargo's synthetic whiskey with counterfeit labels and revenue seals.

How long will you live or keep your eyesight? The answer may be in a bottle.

FAILURE OF BROKERS

Failures of Wall Street brokerage houses now total round half a hundred.

The honest brokers are wondering what effect these failures will have on their future business.

Some think the speculative public will become afraid to trust anyone. Not so. Gamblers buck any game, even if they know it's crooked. They always have. They always will. One born every second.

Speculators may hunt their holes, but only temporarily.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

"THE WESTERN FARM"

In the case of some of the objections which are made in the East to the St. Lawrence deep waterway project it is difficult to decide whether these objections arise out of wilful perversion of facts, or out of an inexcusable ignorance of them.

The New York World, by way of showing that more adequate shipping facilities to and at the harbor of New York would do away with the necessity of the St. Lawrence project, refers to the area to be benefitted by the Great Lakes trade route in the delightfully belittling phrase, "the Western farm."

If the New Yorker persists in lumping the vast geographical area of more than two dozen states which would be directly served by this waterway, and looking upon it as a Western farm, there is probably no help for it. Even the fact that we have within this region now the center population of the United States would be almost unconvincing to him.

For those who can still recognize a fact as a fact it may be well to recall that this Western farm "is the main source of production for our foreign trade; it produces of our surplus wheat 75 per cent; corn, 65 per cent; flax, 100 per cent; copper, 39 per cent; zinc, 74 per cent; lead, 46 per cent; potatoes and sugar beets, 50 per cent; cattle, 50 per cent. It contains 40 per cent of the value of manufactures, and 70 per cent of the measured coal reserve."

Now these are incontrovertible facts which no one can dodge or argue out of existence even though he may live in New York. Without this Western farm we should be in a poor way, as even a New Yorker would have to admit if he took an inventory of the things about him which have been raised or manufactured on this farm. Even by looking at it from a long distance and through the wrong end of the telescope it must be apparent that we have here a farm of unprecedented dimensions and activity.

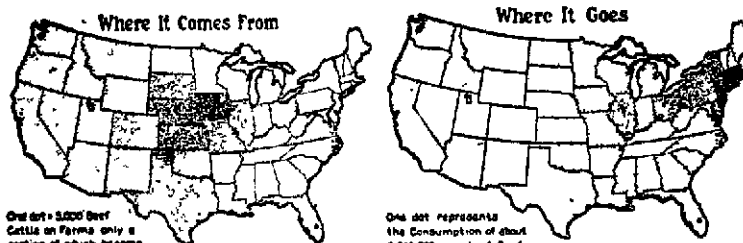

It is recommended by something besides geographical extent and industrial and farming activities. The people who live on this Western farm are endowed with an indomitable spirit of progress; they could not have brought this area to the high state of productivity which it enjoys today but for this enterprise and vision. The things to which they have laid their hands and on which they have set their hearts have prospered beyond the understanding of those who have only a casual acquaintance with the amazing progress of this Western farm.

This very progress has made inevitable the St. Lawrence waterway to the ocean; it follows as naturally the law of development as manhood follows the boyhood stage. Calling us New York's Western farm serves only to show up the futility of attempting to block this great project. It is an indication that we have passed the stage of arguing about it.—Editorial in the Detroit News.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

WHERE BEEF COMES FROM

Beef doesn't "just grow." It has reached its present standing as a central article in the diet because the men behind the industry put much thought and work and money into the business.

Years ago before our country was settled as thickly as it is today, beef cattle were raised near large cities. Today, according to Government figures, eighty per cent of the beef cattle in the United States are raised west of the Mississippi river. Seventy per cent of the beef is eaten east of that river.

New York and New England would have about six beefless days a week were it not that Iowa and her sister states a thousand or more miles away specialize in the raising and fattening of live stock. The middle western and western farmer thus does his share in feeding the east.

But the middle western farmer would be of no benefit to the meat eater of the city were it not for the fact that between the farmer and the retailer has grown up a long-range industry that takes the western steers and turns them into attractive, clean and inspected meat, and then transports this meat to the city markets. A very small amount of beef is frozen. Most of it reaches the consumer as fresh meat which has been merely chilled so that it will keep fresh and sweet while it is on its journey from the packing house to the consumer.

No, so many years ago a great majority of live animals were shipped a thousand miles in order to feed the eastern states. They shrank in weight, many were diseased, many died in transit.

Today packing houses located near the producing sections buy the live animals, convert them into meat, saving all by-products, and then by means of their highly effective distributive organizations, market the meat products where they are desired.

Swift & Company has prepared two maps, one showing where the beef cattle are raised, the other where the beef is consumed. The maps furnish a graphic illustration of the difficulty which would confront both the consumer and the producer if they were forced to depend entirely upon the smaller local packer for their meat supply.

The larger packers have established hundreds of branch houses and many car routes which radiate from supply centers. Most of us know that branch houses are really sub-supply stations which carry packing house products. The car routes are really traveling branch houses, they supply smaller towns and villages where there are no branch houses and the methods insure a constant supply of fresh meat. A salesman visits each town along a certain line of railroad at least once a week. The orders are sent in promptly. When he has covered his route

Transcontinental Tourist Traffic Will Be Heavy

Minneapolis, Minn., March 7.—Transcontinental tourist traffic this summer promises to eclipse such travel in any other year, members of the Yellowstone Trail association predict. Anticipating the increased travel, the Yellowstone Trail is completing extensive development schemes, all of which tend to create an added lure for the cross country automobile trips.

Indications of the widespread interest manifested in the prominent national highways were discernable during the recent Twin Cities National Automobile show, and similar events in other cities, Yellowstone Trail officials declare.

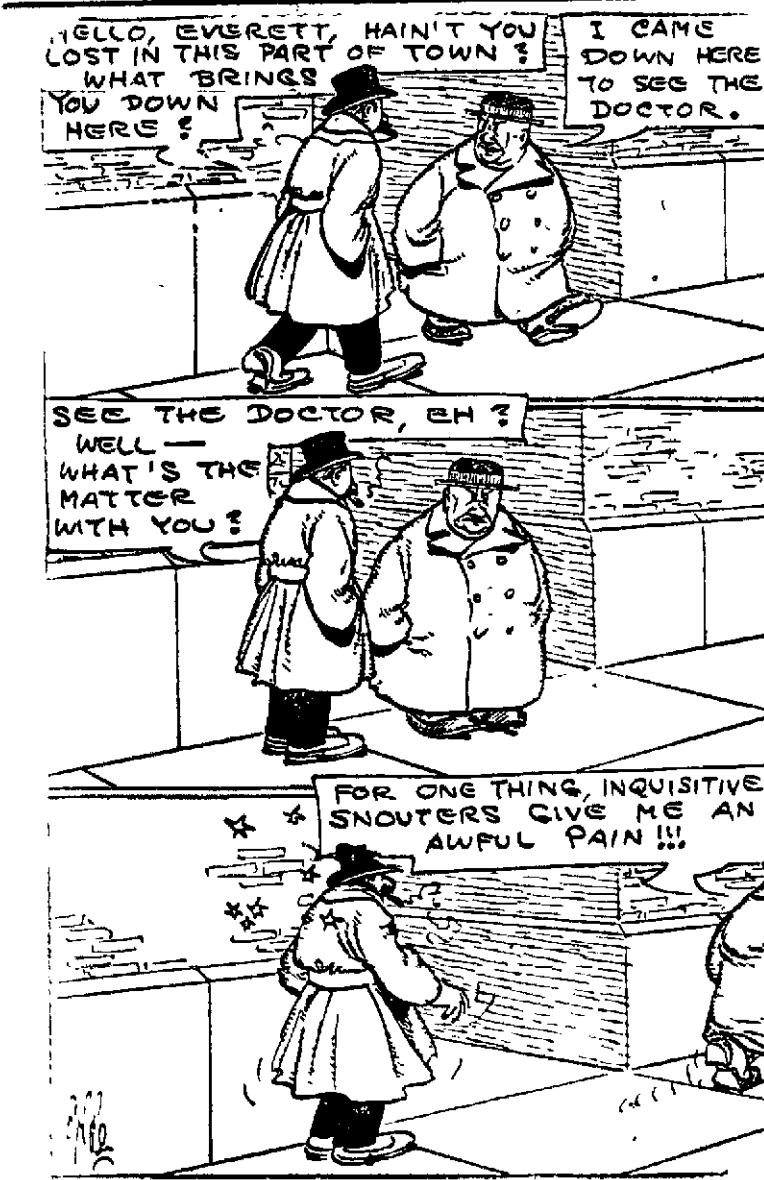

As the first step in their development program, the organization has created two traveling information bureaus, each of which will work out of national headquarters in Minneapolis, with one going east to the Atlantic coast, and the other west to the Pacific coast. This is in addition to twelve free tourist information bureaus established in cities along the trail, which runs through the following states: Washington, Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Massachusetts.

An eastern headquarters has been arranged for at Cleveland, to be subsidiary to the local offices. The Cleveland bureau will have charge of all work on the trail east of Chicago. Another feature of the work about to be taken up is the re-marking of the trail with large metal markers. These will take the place of the painted signs on telephone posts. It was said.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

The rubber mountain went on with his story.

"Yes, I ought to be called plum pudding mountain because that's what I'm made of. The pastry was used to have his shop near here, and when he made plum puddings that weren't good he dumped 'em on this spot. After a while they grew together and then I became me. I really am rubber now, but don't talk to me of indigestion. I've got all the indigestion I saved other people who didn't eat me."

"Well," said Nick, "Nancy and I have our Green Shoes, so we'll just wish ourselves down on the other side. We'll not walk on you any more."

"Oh, no, you can't," replied the mountain quickly. "Not here. Who ever would get to the Kingdom of the Diddyevers must say he has walked over the Seven Mountains, and whoever would get to the Kingdom of the Koraknots must tell the gate keeper that he has walked through the Seven Valleys. I tell you what I'll do. I'll hold my breath until you get down on the other side. But before you go I'll give you a word of warning about the next mountain. It is made of glass, and for every step you will slide two steps down. The only way you can get over is to go backwards."

"First jump up backwards as far as you can, after that every step you take will carry you two steps in the other direction. The mountain won't know the difference."

"Thank you," said Nancy. "Then we'd better be going."

The mountain held his breath and the Twins scrambled up to his top and down the other side as fast as they could go. But even after they had put a long distance between them and the ticklish old mountain they could hear him ha, ha, ha, and ho, ho, and heeling and shaking so hard that his whole body trembled.

SUPERSTITION WAS DOWNFALL OF GERONIMO

Couldn't Understand The Bright Light Which Flashed Over Capt. Hildebrand's Face

A MESSAGE FROM HEAVEN

Chicago, March 7.—Superstition resulted in the surrender of Geronimo, the famous Indian and the Apache Kid used the first smoke screen recorded in this country, according to Col. Fred Owens of Chicago, a noted Texas ranger of half a century ago.

Col. Owens, an old circus man, who earned his title as ranger, cowboy, bronco buster, pony express rider and participant in many wild west pursuits, including those of Geronimo and the Kid made these assertions here in a recital of his life, which has been crammed full of action and narrow escapes, that read like the passages from an old dime novel.

Fred Owens when nine years old was missing from his home in Flemingsburg, Kentucky, one morning in 1859. He had gone west.

At eighteen, or in 1868, he became a Texas ranger and made such a mark for himself that he was sent to the Centennial at Philadelphia with other rangers to represent the Lone Star state. In 1878-79 and 80 he was detailed to the pony express through No Man's Land, or the Indian Territory. He was never held up but many times outdressed bandits bent on possessing the valuables he carried.

In 1881 he took the saddle again as an active ranger. About that time Geronimo, the most wily chief that ever gave the American army trouble, was getting bad in West Texas. Until Geronimo's capture in the hills back of Chihuahua, Mexico, Colonel Owens was a material part of his pursuit. And he tells a story of the Indian's capture that may not be part of the records of the War Department because Geronimo had few friends among white men. The colonel was one of these few.

Indian Tells His Story

In after years Geronimo told him why he surrendered to the white man, and it is a story of the Indian's superstitious nature. Geronimo's pursuers numbered among them a Captain Hildebrand. When the Indian was driven into the hills and the chase became hot, Hildebrand's command was crawling over the crags towards the red skin's stronghold. Just before his surrender Geronimo caught sight of the face of Capt. Hildebrand and was ready to fire. Then a bright light flashed over the officer's features. This the Indian could not fathom, and it drove him the fight out of him.

In these days rangers in the army were resourceful men, private in the advancing line had seen a point of vantage and thought his captain should know of it. To move or a call would reveal his position to the Indians. Yet he must get the attention of Captain Hildebrand. Taking a "small mirror from his pocket he caught the rays of the sun. These reflected on the face of Hildebrand, then in imminent danger of Geronimo's rifle. But the flash beat the Indian's trigger finger. He saw the wonderful, bright light and thought it a message from Heaven to identify Capt. Hildebrand as the Great Spirit. Geronimo ran up his flag of truce, merely stipulating that he should not be hung or shot for his outrages if he surrendered. His terms were accepted.

In 1884 the Apache Kid, a half-breed outlaw, and his band were marauding in West Texas. The Apache Kid was of the same tribe, but not related to Geronimo. Yet he possessed all the wiles and savage cruelty of his Chiricahua. Colonel Owens and his fellow rangers were sent after the Apache Kid.

The chase was a hot one. The Apache Kid knew horses and from time to time got remounts on the fastest and freshest horses in corrals he passed. The rangers plugged along on their same ponies. But they followed the trail so fast that they drove the Apache Kid and his band to a field of fewer corrals and more desperate straits.

Lied Smoke Screen

Colonel Owens did not escape. Two of the Wolff boys with whom he had lived when he first came to Texas fell in the rifle fire. Colonel Owens dragged them through it and returned to get his horse. Then he rode into a bullet that caught him in the left thigh and another killed his horse, which fell on the Colonel, crushed his chest, and left him unconscious. When he came to himself he was seven miles nearer civilization, being carried on the back of a friendly squaw. The Wolff boys were saved.

Recovering, he again took up the chase and helped to make it merry for the Apache Kid until that outlaw was run to cover in Big Bear Canyon on the Pecos river and died from a rangers bullet.

He then broke eighteen horses to work without line, bridle or bit, and their performance was presented the first time with the original Buffalo Bill show in Omaha in 1884. In 1885 Colonel Owens went back to Texas. He added to his string of "naked riders," as they were called, and presented them for two seasons with the Barnum and Bailey circus. Then he sold them to that company.

He returned to Texas and took up the trail of Brass Scott and his band of cattle rustlers. This crowd was exterminated 100 miles from Fort Stockton, but before their end Colonel Owens had received a terrible wound that crushed his left side.

Went on Last "Big Drive"

This laid him up for some time but he went on the last "big drive" of cattle from Texas. There were five thousand head in the herd. In Stevens, Sancer, Texas, he called because the hills form a giant saucer, a coyote barked and a cowboy fired a shot at him. When the stampede was over one thousand head of cattle were dead and twenty-five hundred were lost.

Returning to civilization, Colonel Owens heard of a midget broncho pony born on the trail. He bought this little animal, which was the great trick pony "Cleo." He trained "Cleo" and the animal was taken around the world twice by Colonel Owens. Cleo died in 1918. Colonel Owens then left the road.

What is thought of him by showmen is evidenced by his burial and slace, automatic elections, as chaplain of their club. He can still take the thumb, fore and middle fingers of his pistol hand, roll and crimp a cigarette the cowboy's way, in spite of the fact that those three fingers are marred by the mark of a bullet that shot the gun out of his hand.

Colonel Owens is still a Texas ranger. He has never resigned, he has never been discharged. He is a man of quiet mein, and to meet him one would never realize he was one of the valiant men that carried law and order to and over the frontier.

SCHOOL BOARDS APPOINTED BY GOVERNOR, BEST

This Statement Was Made at Educational Meeting in Chicago, by George M. Ford

ELECTIVE PLAN IS POOR

Chicago, Ill., March 7.—The most successful type of school board is where the governor appoints the members of business, professional, and school people. This statement was made here at the meeting of the National Council of Education of the National Education Association, by George M. Ford, State Superintendent of West Virginia schools despite the fact that at the Des Moines meeting last summer, the National Education Association went on record in favor of the board elected by the people.

Mr. Ford upheld this plan under which the governor appoints representatives of business, professional and school people on the ground that it brought to "the school system directors who are acquainted with all phases of activities in the state. They act as a check on each other because they see things from different angles." He questioned the election of state boards by the people "because of the tendency to throw the selection of the board more into politics."

Extravagant educational expenditures were assailed in a plea by Dr. Homer H. Seerley, president of the Iowa State Teachers' College, for a "new kind of thrift." He urged the reduction of overhead expense that more money might be spent on the actual work of teaching. "Our leaders of opinion and progress too generally overlook the fact that there is a sensible limit to what is necessary in educational expenditures," declared Dr. Seerley, who defined the main problem in education today as "the wise and rigorous elimination of waste."

"It is time to ascertain the qualities of education that will give America the leadership of the world," he continued. "Little attention, he said, is being given to conservation of resources available to education, and less and less attention is given to the extraordinary and unusual waste that has accompanied educational undertakings."

"What is necessary for the welfare and perpetuity of society," said Dr. Seerley, "is a new kind of thrift."

TO HIRE LEADER.

Devils Lake, N. D., March 7.—Various clubs, lodges and civic organizations of the city, at a joint conference, took preliminary steps toward hiring a trained Boy Scout leader and director of boys' welfare activities. A tentative budget was arrived at, and tentative amounts assigned to each organization. All organizations interested in the plan are expected to take official action toward raising their quota of a fund to hire a Scout leader.

Will Expedite Seed Aid Bill, Haugen Declares

An effort will be made to have the bill appropriating money for the aid of farmers in western North Dakota and eastern Montana expedited in the house, according to a letter received today by the Tribune from Gilbert N. Haugen, of Iowa, chairman of the house committee on agriculture. The letter follows:

"Replying to your telegram I am pleased to say that my committee to day authorized me to favorably report to the House S. 2897 carrying $2,000,000 for the purchase of seed and feed.

N. DAK. POTATOES DECLARED BEST

Minot, N. D., March 7.—That the quality of potatoes raised in the Mouse river valley of North Dakota is such that they are wanted in other states is evidenced in a letter received by the Minot Association of Commerce from A. L. Ronell of Twin Falls, Idaho, who at one time farmed 10 miles north of Minot.

"I know the fine quality of potatoes raised in your section of the state," says the letter. "This country where I am situated raises immense crops of potatoes, but they deteriorate and become diseased so rapidly that the growers have to ship in their seed."

Mr. Ronell states that he wishes Early Ohio seed potatoes.

TO INSTALL DRUG STORE IN SPRING

Marmarth, N. D., March 7.—A new drug store will be installed in the Wynman building this spring by Foster & Gilman, who have been conducting a store at Wibaux, Montana, and it is expected will be open for business by the first of April.

The Foster Drug interests of Miles City have for some time been interested with Mr. Gilman in a store at Wibaux, but it has been decided to move the store to Marmarth and accommodations have been secured with Wyman's where the fixtures will be installed as soon as they can be brought here, with the purpose of having the drug stock in shape for service by the first of April.

SCHOOL DISTRICT BONDED $22,000

Ryder, N. D., March 7.—The proposition to bond Ryder special school district in the amount of $22,000 carried in the election by a vote of 66 to 10.

A very pleasing feature of the election was the absence of factional effort. The proposition had been submitted in sufficient time ahead of the election for the voters to weigh it carefully and the result of the vote was accepted in an unanimous spirit.

The bond issue will make it possible to carry on the high school work and at the same time wipe out the outstanding warrent indebtedness of the district. The bonds will be issued and realized on to the best advantage at an early date and there is no prospect that the district will again find itself in the pinch that necessitated bonding at this time, as it will be on a cash basis, and incoming tax apportionments will take care of future obligations.

Custom of drinking toasts is derived from the ancient religious ceremony of pouring libations to heathen gods.

NEW AID PLAN FOR DISABLED MEN IN EFFECT

Representative Veterans Bureau Explains Methods To Be Used

NAME SERVICE OFFICER

Experience has shown that a large number of former service men who received disabilities in the recent war were not acquainted with what the government is offering them in the way of compensation or vocational training, and it is for this reason that the United States Veterans' Bureau is sending representatives into the field to educate and make contact with as many of these men as possible, according to announcement by the bureau.

This is being done coincident with the nationwide census being conducted by the American Legion, in their effort to be of assistance to all former service men. The Field Representatives of the Veterans' Bureau will cooperate with all organizations interested in the ex-service man's problems, with a view to coordinating the work of the different organizations and to obtaining the maximum results.

The plan contemplated, which is said to have the endorsement of the American Legion, calls for the appointment of one person in each Legion Post territory whose duty will be to act as the representative of the bureau in that particular locality.

To Name Capable Man

The person appointed will be one who has the facilities and the capabilities to carry out the entire work of the bureau in behalf of the ex-service man. These service officers will be expected to assume the responsibility of seeing that the bureau in that territory will be called upon to supervise the preparation of the proper forms required under law, in the filing of claims for compensation, reimbursement, insurance and hospital or medical treatment and the forwarding of these forms to the sub-district office of the bureau. It is also expected that these Service Officers shall interest themselves in obtaining employment opportunities for men who have been trained under direction of the bureau.

This is all being done under a new policy of the Veterans' Bureau, to be of greater assistance to the disabled man and to expedite the award of claims by seeing that the proper papers are correctly filled from the beginning and that the right kind of evidence is submitted, which will have direct bearing in establishing service connection on the disability.

Floyd A. Ruth, Field Representative of the United States Veterans' Bureau, was today in Bismarck for the purpose of appointing the Service Officer for this locality. Mr. Ruth is himself a disabled man and has been in training at the University of Minnesota before taking over this work. He is acting as a supervisory contact officer for the western half of North Dakota and cooperating with the local service officers.

Select Service Officer

"We desire to have the public know, and especially the disabled ex-service men, that the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, as a Government Agency, is vitally interested in seeing that justice is done in every case," Mr. Ruth said. "It is not intended that obstructions shall be placed in the way of the disabled man. Under the law there are certain forms and proofs required before service connection can be established. The Veterans' Bureau through the agency of the Local Service Officer at all times keeps the claimant advised as to what is required and assist him in proper preparation of the necessary evidence to prosecute his case."

"Mrs. Fred L. Conklin, of the Local Red Cross Chapter," Mr. Ruth said, "has been selected as the Service Officer for Bismarck and vicinity. She will at all times be ready to assist in the preparation of all forms and to advise as to what further evidence must be submitted to enable a favorable award."

UNEMPLOYMENT IS INCREASING IN DENMARK

Copenhagen, March 7.—Unemployment in Denmark has been steadily increasing month by month, averaging 20 per cent for the whole of 1921 and culminating in December with 22 per cent of the total number of Danish workers, according to official reports.

High wages and the dumping of cheap central European goods are generally blamed for this state of affairs.

Economists, however, are of opinion that unemployment in Denmark, as elsewhere, is a natural consequence of the fact that more than half of Europe's population are unable to buy even the bare necessities.

Some statisticians assert that the country is too small for her fertile population of less than 3,250,000.

SWISS GUARDS AS HARD BOILED EGGS

Rome, March 7.—"A fine body of men," was the remark generally heard from visitors to Rome during the conclave of Cardinals which elected the new Pope Pius XI and who were seeing the Swiss Guards at the Vatican for the first time.

"They are a lot of hard-boiled eggs," the same visitors would say a few minutes later when, without passing they had tried to rush past the barrage and been energetically refrained by the same Swiss Guards.

Standing six feet or more, the Swiss Guards, in their multi-colored uniforms present an inspiring sight as they march through the Court of Saint Damas. In physique they are the nearest approach to the composite American battalion which General Allen led down from Coblenz to Paris and Rome as honor guards to the French and Italian unknown soldier.

Most of them originate from German cantons of the Swiss Confederation. A few of them speak French. All speak German and Italian.

MANDAN NEWS

Have Special Grain Shipment

Officials of the Northern Pacific railroad showed their willingness to help the farmers Sunday in a striking manner when they furnished a special train and engine crew to haul seventeen carloads of hay to points on the south line for distribution.

The hay shipments had arrived Saturday night from various eastern North Dakota and Minnesota points. Rather than allow further delay to jeopardize herds already in sore need of feed by waiting for the regular freight Monday morning, the Northern Pacific hooked up a special train of the seventeen carloads of feed and hauled it to the various points on the south line of which it was billed.

Telegrams and phone messages were sent out to notify the farmers of the Sunday shipment.

General conditions are much better, it is said, following the moderation in the weather and the general receipt of feed which is now being received in generous quantities.

The special train load of hay from Minnesota which arrived here yesterday has been sent to Carson, Lark and Mott to be distributed to farmers in that vicinity.

Fred Keller of Minneapolis has arrived in Mandan to visit his son, Walter, who has been ill at the C. W. Smith home for the past week.

H. S. Russell of the Mandan Creamery and Produce company left last evening for Kansas City to attend a meeting of the Missouri Poultry Association.

Mrs. William Bauknecht who has been visiting at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Bender, at Marshfield, Wis., underwent an operation for appendicitis on Saturday in that city. She had planned to return home last week. Mr. Bauknecht left for Marshfield yesterday.

NEW INDUSTRIES SPRINGING UP IN PALESTINE

Carpet Weaving Ranks First In Importance Among These Industries

Jerusalem, March 7.—Palestine is beginning to rise from its long industrial slumber. Manufacturing industries are springing up rapidly in this country which could not boast of a single industry for hundreds of years under the Turkish regime. Now the new industries are beginning to compete strongly with foreign manufactures.

This change is attributed here to Zionist capital and enterprise.

Carpet weaving perhaps ranks first in importance among the new industries. The Pro-Jerusalem society has a number of looms which turn out some remarkably beautiful work. Jewish colonists from Persia have also set up a number of factories which make carpet patterns for foreign consumption. The United States is their chief buyer for the present.

The manufacture of house and office furniture is making rapid strides. Two large Zionist factories are now busy producing all the wooden requisites of office and home for Palestine as well as for Egypt.

Cigarette making, pearl button manufacturing, wine producing, candy, brush and basket-making are among the many other enterprises which are being developed. Their promoters say they are more than satisfied with results, despite the general depression in trade prevailing the world over.

Two existing handicaps, however, seem to arrest the rapid growth. The first is lack of electricity to run the machinery in factories and the second the lack of suitable harbors, piers and sheds to facilitate the handling of the increase in imports and exports.

The Rutenberg scheme for generating electricity from the River Jordan which has already been approved by the government in London and on which work is to start soon is expected to eliminate these handicaps. The administration is bending its utmost efforts to promote more enterprises. An exhibition of home industries, the first of its kind in Palestine, is being arranged for the first week of April.

Remodel, Repair Washburn Garage

Washburn, N. D., March 7.—The Schulz Motor Co. has just completed remodeling their garage building. After the fire the garage underwent, the manager, Dan Schulz, Jr., decided that then was a good time to have the remodeling done. The repair room was enlarged to nearly twice its former size. Another pit was put in the floor and the work benches rearranged. The car storage department was remodeled when the office underwent a change. After the work was completed the entire interior was painted.

STATE BONDS ARE SIGNED UP

Mill and Elevator Series Prepared by Officials

State officials today were signing up $1,100,000 of mill and elevator bonds, on which money will be received as soon as the bonds are executed and mortgage filed. The money derived from this sale will be used in paying back money borrowed from the Bank of North Dakota and in carrying on new work on the Grand Forks mill and elevator project.

The mortgage filed upon the property is for $3,000,000, but the full amount of bonds will not be issued at this time. After the first issue of bonds in the sum of $1,100,000 the bonds will be issued in $100,000 lots based upon frequent appraisals of the work.

A large amount of bonds of the real estate series have been printed and are now in the hands of state officials. The bonds will be executed as fast as mortgages on farms are completed, and the mortgages assigned to the state treasurer in $100,000 lots. The situation is now such that farm mortgages can be made through the rural credits department of the Bank of North Dakota as fast as appraisals and other details can be taken care of.

HAY AND FEED TO EMMONS COUNTY

Hazleton, N. D., March 7.—Mr. H. O. Batten and Geo. Lehnart, local bankers, have returned from Linton, where they attended a county bankers' meeting called by County Agent Sauer relative to methods of financing the hay and feed being purchased by the county commissioners.

E. D. Fogle was sent to Minnesota last week to procure hay and the county agent in co-operation with the bankers, will direct the shipments to the various points in the county and superintend the distribution. It is estimated that Emmons needs for immediate and permanent relief about 400 cars of hay and 30 cars of corn in addition to seed.

A practical system was worked out at this meeting whereby the needs can be taken care of expeditiously and sufficiently.

INGROWN NAIL

Toughen Skin and Toe Nail Turns Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

Take Care of Your Cold

Guard against Grippe, "Flu" and Pneumonia—Rub Musterole on Throat, Chest and Back

Grippe, Influenza and treacherous Pneumonia all start with a cold, so guard against these dangers before your cold gets deeply seated.

At the first signs of a cold (which is just congestion) bring your circulation back to normal by rubbing Musterole on your throat, chest and back. Musterole is a counter-irritant which warms up the body quickly and sets the blood surging through the congested parts.

Remember the good old-fashioned mustard plaster that was grandmother's standby? Musterole has all of the good qualities of that messy old mustard plaster without the sting and blister.

Made of pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, it penetrates the pores and goes straight to the seat of trouble.

During the "Flu" epidemic several years ago, Musterole was used in our army training camps and the Y. M. C. A. War Board sent thousands of jars to our soldiers in France.

If you are feverish, if you ache all over, rub on good old Musterole, take a hot bath, drink plenty of hot water and go to bed and call your doctor. Keep good and warm and see that there is plenty of fresh air in your room.

Musterole has been used for years and is recommended by doctors for Sore Throat, Pleurisy, Headache, Neuralgia, Croup, Lumbago, Grippe, "Flu" and Pneumonia. Apply the healing ointment with your finger tips, rubbing it gently into the affected parts. First you will experience a warm tingling glow, then a refreshing, cooling sensation. Thousands of families keep Musterole always on their bathroom shelf ready for colds and other emergencies.

The Foundation of Every Prosperous Business

RECENTLY the Chicago Journal of Commerce in an editorial discussion of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) as an example of modern American business, said:

"Three years ago the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), which does business in eleven states, adopted a wholesome publicity policy, not only to derive the natural benefits of advertising its products, but to acquaint the public with intimate information regarding the Company and its affairs. The fair dealing, justice and equity of its practices, the business principles which rule its conduct, have been published far and wide throughout the territory it serves. Its policies were frankly disclosed to promote the welfare and to secure and hold the confidence and esteem of its stockholders, employees, and the public. The Company has paid for this publicity service just as any other industrial or mercantile enterprise pays for its advertising, and with most gratifying results."

"This publicity campaign has been dubbed 'Good-Will advertising'—a happy phrase. Good-Will is the foundation of every prosperous business. Good-Will always contributes to profits and can be secured only by fair dealing, fair prices, and a rigid adherence to business ethics. In all these the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a model of efficiency."

THIS appreciation of the purposes, practices, and achievements of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) so clearly expressed in the above quoted editorial is most gratifying to the Board of Directors of this Company, for it confirms their conviction that understanding and fairness go together. You cannot be fair unless you understand. You cannot understand unless you are willing to be fair.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is performing a highly essential service in a highly specialized branch of industry. It is doing something that has to be done in a way that entitles it to the approval of the public it serves.

It is to the interest of the public as well as the Company that the Company should give a frank account of itself and of the stewardship of its seven Directors.

Hence this sustained campaign.
